G. W. U. HAS PROUD WAR SERVICE RECORD

Active in Former Crisis and Again
Stands Ready.

The part played by George Washington University in past wars is being totally eclipsed by the preparations now under way.

A coast artillery company has been formed, a Red Cross unit has been organized, an ambulance corps has been established, a course in first-aid instruction has been started, a military census is under way, both men and women students are enlisting in the navy, scores of students have joined the army and National Guard, and the girls have pledged themselves to the strictest economy, eliminating all social activities.

This is not the first war in which George Washington has served the nation. At the outbreak of the civil war the enrollment at the university, then known as Columbian College, was the highest it had ever been, but so many students left to join either the Blue or the Gray that the university activities came almost to a dead halt. The college buildings were used for hospital purposes, although the few students who remained received instruction in the class rooms.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war the university again answered the call of the nation, contributing scores of instructors and students as well as other aid.

From its inception the university has been intimately associated with government activities and with the nation's greatest historical figures. It was to fulfill George Washington's dream of a great national university in the Capital City that the university was established. But during the span of nearly a century since then Congress never has seen fit to make Washington's dream a reality.

The movement for the founding of Columbian College is just 100 years old, for in 1817 Rev. Luther Rice, a missionary, launched the campaign. The college formally was opened January 3, 1822, for theological and classical studies, with Rev. William Staughton, D. D., as president, and with thirty-nine students in attendance.

In 1873 the name of the college was changed to Columbian University and it was decided to move to a downtown site. In 1884 the Corean Scientific School was formed, later being merged with Columbian College into the department of arts and sciences. In 1904 the name of the institution was changed to George Washington University. The university now has more than 2,000 students.

ARTILLERY COMPANY GOES TO RIVER FORT

Seventy-five members of the First Company, District of Columbia Coast Artillery Corps, went into camp at Fort Washington last night preparatory to a drill with the fort's big guns today. The men are under the command of Capt. William Burns.

When the call to service comes, members of the local company expect to be ordered to the fortifications along the Potomac River and their officers are anxious that they become familiar with the topography of that section of Maryland.

ALIEN ENEMIES WARNED OF ARMS PROHIBITION

Alien enemies of the United States must turn in to the Metropolitan Police Department all fire arms and munitions of war which they have in their possession by noon tomorrow, is the edict issued yesterday by Major Raymond W. Pullman, superintendent of police.

Alien enemies of Uncle Sam who fail to observe the edict will be liable to arrest and confinement in compliance with the recent war proclamation of President Wilson.

The police say they are fully informed of those who are antagonistic, and the collecting of arms and munitions will begin Monday morning.

DEATH IS PENALTY FOR SLEEPING SENTRY

Therefore Guards Need No Stimulant to Keep Awake.

The sentries of the Third Regiment District National Guard, who patrolled Conduit Road last night didn't need any coffee to keep them awake. Officers of the regiment yesterday advised the sentries of the articles of war, which prescribe the death penalty for sentries who fall asleep or are grossly negligent on guard duty.

It was a fairly quiet night along the conduit, but now and then the guards would challenge an automobile or a wagon that looked suspicious. These, however, were allowed to pass after an inspection, but practically every inch of the important highway was closely watched for a possible attempt at a bomb outrage.

Officers of the Third Infantry are considering the possibility of putting 100 more men on Conduit Road duty. The area to be patrolled is so great that it takes too severely the watchfulness of the men who are already stationed there. At the present time the Second Battalion is doing guard duty there, but men from other battalions may be lent to help guard the road.

NEGROES TO DECLARE LOYALTY TO AMERICA

Today the colored population of the city will turn out en masse to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln, author of the Emancipation Proclamation which liberated the slaves and set in motion the machinery that has done much to uplift the negro. Rev. Simon P. W. Drew, pastor of the Cosmopolitan Church, stated yesterday that the time was opportune for the negro to demonstrate his loyalty.

A patriotic rally will be held at the church when Rev. Drew will preach the anniversary sermon this morning at 11 o'clock. The colored Boy Scouts, about 100 in number, together with a large number of colored school children of all ages, will gather at the church at 3 o'clock. Rev. Drew will address the gathering. Tonight Rev. E. T. Lewis, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, of Ivy City, will preach.

Following a parade tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. Drew will deliver an address on "Shall 12,000,000 negroes stand by the President in the present war in defense of our flag?"

The Phonograph Shop at

Hecht & Co.

Seventh Street Near F

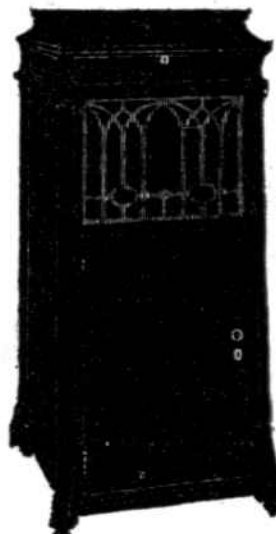

WE CONSIDER it an honor that we have been licensed by Mr. Edison to sell his favorite invention. The New York Tribune says of this new invention: "Edison has snared the soul of music." The New York Globe refers to it as "the Phonograph with a Soul." The Boston Herald says: "Impossible to distinguish between the singer's living voice and its Re-Creation by the musical instrument that bears the stamp of Edison's genius." Four hundred other great newspapers have conceded that this wonderful new invention Re-Creates all forms of music with such literal perfection that the Re-Creation cannot be distinguished from the original.

TO AID RED CROSS WORK.

The community center experiment now being conducted with such success in Park View received added zest and impetus as a result of a party dance given by the Park View Social Club on Wednesday evening in honor of its newly-elected officers.

The committee in charge of the dance was composed of Messrs. Darr, Hanson, Bushner, and Yeakum.

A resolution was unanimously adopted, providing for the establishment of a Red Cross auxiliary. Mrs. Robbins, president of the club, appointed Mrs. C. H. Hanson as chairman of a committee to formulate plans for bringing this auxiliary into practical operation.

The officers of the club are: President, Mrs. Clara Robbins; vice president, P. H. Delaplaine; secretary, W. M. Carpenter, and treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Wineberger.

TO MAKE GERMANS CITIZENS.

Chief Justice Covington and the bureau of naturalization yesterday declared that the six Germans who have been ready for oral examination before the District Supreme Court to complete their naturalization will be permitted to do so Friday. Since war has been declared a question existed in the minds of many as to whether or not aliens should be admitted to citizenship.
